Kay Havens is a lifetime avid gardener and a UCCE Master Gardener since 2007. She’s an expert on many gardening topics and has created several award winning gardening education programs. As a charter member of the Great Park Garden Coalition, Kay’s goal is to have a world class botanical garden in Orange County. She actively promotes climate resilient and sustaining landscapes and was recently appointed to the El Toro Water District’s board.

At this Garden Club meeting, expect to hear how these dynamic volunteers “grow their fellow gardeners forward” by giving hands-on gardening classes, speaking in the community, making award winning podcasts and radio shows or by manning the Master Gardener’s Hotline. Master gardeners really get around! Don’t miss this opportunity to learn how master gardeners have been a success for forty years in Orange County.

Bring your gardening questions for Kay.

Members will be emailed Zoom instructions.
